

Improve efficiency and delivery in your department.

Try a new, turnkey approach.

Using contingent labor for key or long-term positions can come with its challenges. For some roles, that often means trouble in recruiting or retaining talent ... plus losses in productivity, IP, and continuity. Soon you're missing deadlines, instead of meeting goals.

The next level of outsourced solutions ... focused on talent

There's a (much) better way. Try a turnkey solution—focused on talent—that delivers quality and improves business, without you needing to manage the daily activities required to support operations.

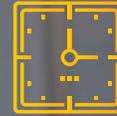

Sound familiar?

If you've been there ... we've done that. Common issues or areas we help to resolve:

- Term limit constraints or regimented labor policies
- High attrition, both negative and neutral
- Operations with clusters of high overtime
- Loss of IP or talent going to competitors

Save time, money ... and your worries

Time

No days spent finding and training new talent, or managing delivery

Money

No overspending on internal or external resources

Worry

No concerns about the quality of the final outcome
